About: Children's Home Society of Florida

For 125 years, Children's Home Society of Florida (CHS) has consistently evolved to meet the dynamic needs of Florida's children and families with one goal in mind: to help create safe, loving homes.

In its early years, CHS was instrumental in advocating for child welfare reforms, helping to shape the development of compulsory education and child labor laws across the country. This dedication to children's rights has been central to CHS's mission, ensuring that every child has the opportunity to reach their full potential.

As the organization grew, CHS expanded its services beyond adoption and foster care. Understanding the complex challenges faced by modern families, CHS introduced early childhood programs, counseling services, and in-home support designed to stabilize and strengthen family units. These initiatives reflect CHS's comprehensive approach to supporting both children and families.

Today, CHS leads with innovative programs like the Community Partnership Schools™ model, partnering with local communities to remove barriers to education and offer holistic support to students and their families. This approach has transformed educational outcomes in schools across Florida, demonstrating CHS's ability to adapt to the evolving needs of communities.

Throughout its history, CHS has remained dedicated to its mission of empowering children and families to discover and pursue opportunities for success and happiness. With over a century of impact, CHS continues to inspire positive change and create lasting, meaningful differences in the lives of those it serves.

Our Programs

The Dream Collective: A Foster Care Services Hub

The Dream Collective, is a foster care community co-working and resource hub. The Dream Collective will transform foster care by bringing partners together, centralizing resources, reducing logistical burdens, and prioritizing children's needs. By co-locating services, we'll foster collaboration, improve efficiency, and empower families with workshops and programming together. This supportive hub provides stability, hope, and sustainable solutions, paving the way for brighter futures for children and families for generations to come.

Early Childhood Services:

Providing parents with resources and support to help foster their child's healthy development, ensuring they are prepared for school and beyond.

New Worlds Reading Regional Partners Program:

Increasing literacy rates across Florida, CHS is a proud regional partner of the New Worlds Reading Initiative, administered by the UF Lastinger Center for Learning. New Worlds Reading addresses a critical gap in literacy support, aiming to empower students with the tools and resources they need to succeed academically and beyond.

Community Partnership Schools™ Model :

Collaborating with schools to integrate academics, health services, counseling, and extracurricular activities, our Community Partnership Schools™ Model helps create a supportive environment that addresses both educational and personal developmental needs.

Family Preservation & Stabilization:

Supporting families in crisis - including those facing domestic violence, homelessness, and substance abuse - through a 12-week program focused on building safe, healthy relationships. Families receive home visits, child developmental screenings, and educational resources to strengthen and stabilize their homes.

Healthy Families:

Children's earliest experiences shape their lives. At CHS Healthy Families, we focus on relationships and family-centered practice, building trusting bonds with families to help them set and achieve their goals. Expertly trained home visitors help families mitigate life challenges, address trauma, and become the best parents they can be. Healthy Families is free and always voluntary.
